Apply to the University of Georgia

In order to study at the University of Georgia, you will first need to apply for admission and be admitted. If you are a graduate student you may be accepted by your academic department before the University of Georgia officially admits you.

Transferring to the University of Georgia (referred to as "Transfer-In")

If you are currently attending another U.S. college, university, English school or high school, or you just recently finished your program, you must contact your current or previous school and ask them to TRANSFER your SEVIS I-20 record to the University of Georgia. The transfer release date is usually the LAST day of your final term of study. Once your SEVIS I-20 record is released to UGA, we will be able to view your record and print a new I-20 for you.

You will receive an email from immigration@uga.edu with instructions for requesting the new I-20 in compass.uga.edu. Please submit all documents required upon admission and complete the transfer information form to your current or previous school to complete. DO NOT WAIT to complete the Transfer-In form. We need to know the transfer release date of your SEVIS I-20 record and we need to know if you will be traveling outside the U.S. before you begin your program at the University of Georgia.

Receive your "Transfer Pending" I-20 or DS-2019

- If you are staying in the U.S., you do not need your I-20 before arriving at the University of Georgia. You will pick up your new I-20 from our office located at 1324 S. Lumpkin Street in Athens when you arrive and register for classes.
- If you are planning to travel outside the U.S. prior to beginning your study at the University of Georgia, we must mail you a "transfer pending" I-20 for re-entry to the U.S. Please remember that we cannot print and mail your new I-20 until your current or previous school has transferred your SEVIS record to the University of Georgia, and this date is usually the last day of your final term of your program.

Visa Interview

- If you are a transfer student and you leave the U.S. before coming to the University of Georgia, you may be required to apply for a new F-1 visa. Be sure to check the expiration date of your visa before you make travel plans. If you must apply for a new visa, be sure to schedule your visa interview in advance and bring your new University of Georgia transfer-pending I-20 with you to your visa interview. For more information about the visa interview, please review information on our website.

- If your visa is valid you may leave the U.S. and re-enter using the new University of Georgia transfer-pending I-20 without applying for a new visa. Your visa will always show your first school that you attended in the U.S. until it expires and you apply for a new visa.
